Northern Kentucky University

STUDENT UNION
With over 5,000 events a year, the Student Union is the hub for activity on the Northern Kentucky University campus. The facility includes a variety of places to eat, a Game Room, 12 meeting rooms, and 8 student organization offices to offer involvement. The Student Union is an innovative, student-centered organization located in the center of campus. As the heart of campus, the Student Union offers many opportunities to get involved.

Students can join an organization through Student Engagement, schedule breaks between classes to enjoy the Student Union, eat lunch at Northern Fare Food Court, visit the Game Room, or watch television on the third floor. The Student Union is known as the “heart” of NKU - let the Student Union serve as your home away from home before, between, or after your class.

Northern Kentucky University’s Student Union was built in 2008 to replace the existing University Center, located next door. With its updated atmosphere and state of the art technology, the Student Union helps to serve off-campus community members with multiple spaces to hold conferences and small meeting sessions.

The food court includes seven stations serving a variety of food including pasta, sandwiches, burgers, sushi, pizza, soups, made-to-order salads, and grilled cheese.

On the second floor of the Student Union, located on the green wall are two ATMs. These include US Bank and Fifth Third Bank.

The Information Desk serves as the “Lost and Found” for the campus, as well as a laptop checkout station and a place to obtain TANK bus schedules and campus maps.

The Email Station serves as a stationary computer that allows students to conveniently email fellow students or faculty.
The mission of the NKU New Student Orientation program is to initiate an enduring connection between students, families, and NKU.

SGA strives to fulfill their sworn duties to serve the student body by addressing its concerns, needs, and rights.

Disability Programs and Services staff members work with all units of the university to insure that every student has an equal opportunity to succeed at NKU.

The Dean of Students Office is committed to having a campus community that fosters student learning and encourages personal development.
